

A Very Welcome Text ...

To help improve their holiday home cleaning services in 2007, Perfect Example Ltd are pleased to announce another new service that will be welcomed by both owners and guests of holiday homes across North Cornwall.

The big question for both owners and paying guests is, what time will the holiday home be ready on change over day and can the property be accessed earlier?

The service window to clean holiday homes is normally between 10.00hrs and 16.30 hrs. Quite often, a number of the homes are ready well before the deadline, particularly if cleaning teams are working in pairs. With almost everyone now owning a mobile phone, the solution to communicating any early availability is quite simple.

From March 2007 onwards, when Perfect Example are given the mobile phone number of the arriving guests, they will be sent a text, as soon as the house is ready, so that they can get in early and start enjoying their well earned holiday.

During 2006, Perfect Example spoke to many guests that were staying at holiday homes within North Cornwall. They all said that they would really value any opportunity to gain early access to their holiday property. This service will also help enhance the professionalism of the self catering service that holiday home owners provide to their guests.

To enable this service, Perfect Example simply require the mobile phone number of the lead guest from their customers or letting agents. Perfect Example can also provide bespoke text messages for each individual property.
